

Sen. Kennedy Opposes Nuclear Weapon Shift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy declared today that "it would be a terrible mistake" for the United States to heed former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's suggestion for the possible U.S. transfer of nuclear weapons to European allies.

In an interview, the New York Democrat said "it would be a betrayal of our responsibility, which is greater than any other nation's since we created nuclear weapons, to spread them to other countries."

In separate interviews, Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, former chairman of the Senate Atomic Energy Committee, and Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., former secretary of the Air Force, also voiced objections to the Eisenhower suggestion.

Eisenhower, in a letter made public Saturday by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and Rep. Ednam F. Kelly, D-N.Y., called for a "drastic" revision of the Atomic Energy Act that banned the transfer of nuclear weapons to other nations.

Defense Of Europe

The former commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization wrote that he feels "we should seek authority to sell appropriate nuclear weapons to other governments, under special conditions and arrangements — to be approved by the NATO organization — that could operate effectively in the defense of Europe."

But Hickenlooper said he is "against selling or delivery of nuclear weapons to any other nation" and added: "Just as a bald proposition I would be against it."

Symington said he thinks the Soviet Union would respond to any U.S. transfer of nuclear weapons by pulling out of negotiations for a proposed nonproliferation treaty.

Hickenlooper called for amplification of Eisenhower's proposal. Jackson said a Senate Government Operations subcommittee he heads will go deeper into the matter in pursuing its current inquiry into NATO policies.

Deeply Concerned
"This nuclear problem is one that we are deeply concerned about," Jackson said, "because rightly or wrongly much of the (NATO) trouble involves it. My own view is that we should be very slow to make any changes in the basic system under which we are operating."

Kennedy said he doubts that the NATO allies, including West Germany, would want the kind of nuclear proliferation inherent in Eisenhower's suggestion.

Eisenhower did not mention Germany in connection with nuclear weapons. But he said that to make up for the French withdrawal of forces from NATO, "other nations, more specially the Federal Republic of Germany, should be encouraged to develop more military power."

State Police Win In Pistol Match

JACKSON (AP) — Michigan State Police team members swept the top four places in a pistol shoot Sunday at Jackson. Sixty shooters competed in the open event. Trooper Richard Brantner of Jackson was first, followed by Cpl. William Bayn of Rockford. Trooper Elwyn Burnett of East Lansing and Trooper Dorr Wiltze Jr. of Ionia.

Ypsilanti Woman Marries Sherpa

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — An American woman Peace Corps volunteer has married a Nepalese Sherpa in a mountain village in the Everest region northwest of Katmandu.

She is Barbara Wylie, 35, of Ypsilanti, Mich., now the wife of 30-year-old Gyale Lama, whose Sherpa people are among the world's most famous mountain climbers and guides.

The marriage was reported by George Zeidenstein of New York City, Peace Corps director in this Himalayan kingdom sandwiched between India and Communist-controlled Tibet.

Mrs. Lama came to Nepal to teach English in the Padma Kanya Girls' College of Katmandu and on her second tour here taught in a primary school in Phaphlu. She met her husband-to-be there in 1964.

Though many of his people are mountain climbers, Lama works on government-sponsored community development projects and also cares for land owned by his family.

Officials in this capital say his family is part of the mountain nobility in the Solu District of Nepal.

The marriage ceremony, in accord with Sherpa custom, was held in the bride's residence and was performed by the head priest of the region. It lasted two hours.

Two Americans living in Nepal, Dr. William Unsold and his wife, of Oregon, acted in place of the father and mother of the bride.

Zeidenstein said hundreds of Sherpas trekked into the village for the ceremony and that the houses were decorated with flags. Bandsmen played traditional Sherpa instruments.

Zeidenstein said "the ceremony was solemn and impressive. In fact, the degree of hospitality was far and away above what one experiences in America."

The bride and groom will visit the United States, where Gyale is planning to study engineering and improved farming methods.

Zeidenstein had just returned to Katmandu from the village of Phaphlu, about 10 days trek from Katmandu, where the wedding took place May 16. Zeidenstein, who traveled part way by air, said the new Mrs. Lama's first words after the ceremony were: "I am very happy today, George."

The marriage is reported in Katmandu to be the first between an American woman and a Sherpa, and probably the first in which any American woman has been married in Nepal at 9,000 feet altitude, the altitude of Phaphlu village, which is near 29,028-foot Mt. Everest.

Loyalists Crush Da Nang Revolt

Britons On Long Pull To St. Ives

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Somewhere in the Atlantic off Virginia, lost for a day to airborne spotters because of fog, two intrepid Britons rowed a tiny boat toward England from America today.

They're going to St. Ives and hope to be there in 50 days. If they make it, theirs would be the fastest trip of its kind. But not the first.

For 70 years ago, long before these marathon oar-pullers—David Johnstone, 34, and John Hoare, 29—were born, two New Jersey clammers made the 3,000-mile journey in an 18-foot dory in 55 days.

"Crazy Vikings," people called George Herbo and Frank Samuelson when, June 6, 1896, they left the seawall at the Battery in New York and, borne on an ebb tide, set the dory Fox on a bobbing course for England.

The Fox was three feet longer than the 15-foot Puffin, on which Johnstone and Hoare left Virginia Beach last Saturday.

Food and water for 60 days were stowed aboard the Fox and when Herbo and Samuelson pushed off, 2,000 people lined the shore. "Honor and luck" was what they sought, the New York Herald said at the time.

After a month, beyond Newfoundland's Grand Banks, a vicious storm blew up. The Fox was hit by a breaking wave and capsized. Somehow her crew righted her and climbed back in, but some equipment, including a stove, was lost.

The Norwegian bark Sita took Herbo and Samuelson aboard July 15 for a hot meal. Then they renewed their rowing—by now sheer torture.

The long, long row ended July 31. Herbo and Samuelson came back by ship. For a while they were heroes.

But not for long. The strong-backed crew soon were forgotten. Of luck there was none. And back they went to clammimg off Sandy Hook.

Young GOP Elects Negro

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Young Republicans have elected Aubrey Radcliffe, 28, of East Lansing, as the first Negro in the group's history to serve as national committeeman. Tom Ahart, 27, a Detroit Negro, was elected vice - chairman of the organization at its convention at the Statler - Hilton here Saturday.

Both were members of a slate calling itself "Team for Young Republican Progress." The entire slate, headed by David Kendall, 27, of Jackson County, was elected.

Others elected on the slate were: Miss Mickey Michaels, 25, of Royal Oak, national committeewoman; James Young, 33, of Kalamazoo, treasurer; and Judy Kurtz, 25, of Ann Arbor, secretary.

Griffin Campaigns In Detroit; Soapy In UP

By The Associated Press
Sen. Robert P. Griffin, a Northern Michigan resident, brought his political campaign to the Detroit area today while G. Mennen Williams, who lives in the Detroit Area, carried his into Northern Michigan.

Griffin, a former congressman from Traverse City, was appointed to the Senate seat vacated by the death April 30 of Democrat Patrick V. McNamara. He's seeking the Republican nomination for a shot at a six-year term.

Williams, of Grosse Pointe, ex-governor and former assistant secretary of state, is running for the Democratic nomination for the same job.

Griffin scheduled handshaking appearances at an auto factory and a main bus terminal in Detroit today and an appearance at a luncheon of the Economic Club of Detroit.

He was to fly to Grand Rapids in the afternoon to speak to Kent County Republican women, then return to the Detroit area for an evening speech to GOP women at Dearborn.

Williams began today a tour of the Upper Peninsula which was scheduled to take him to all 15 U.P. counties. He planned to meet this morning with supporters in Keweenaw, Houghton, Baraga and Ontonagon counties. He planned visits to Houghton, Hancock and Michigan Technological University today before moving on to Ontonagon, Ironwood and Stambaugh Tuesday.

War Action Up
The fast-breaking political developments came against a backdrop of increased U.S. and Vietnamese activity against the Viet Cong.

The U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division reported killing 47 more Viet Cong Sunday in Operation Crazy Horse, bringing the reported enemy toll in seven days of fighting in the central highlands 250 miles northeast of Saigon to 207 Communists.

With somewhat improved weather, U.S. Air Force and Navy planes flew 49 missions against North Viet Nam Sunday. This was 10 more than the previous day and considerably more than last week when monsoon rains plagued the air offensive.

Cong Slink "Swift"
The Viet Cong struck back by sinking a U.S. Navy "swift" boat with a recoilless rifle fire on the Dinh Ba River 20 miles southeast of Saigon. It was the first loss of one of the 50-foot, aluminum-hulled boats. Moderate casualties were reported among the six crew members.

Vietnamese headquarters said 59 Communists out of an estimated force of 200 in an operation 33 miles southeast of Saigon, and killed 35 in another sweep in northernmost Quang Tri Province. Another 10 Reds were reported killed during a Viet Cong attack on the Tam Ky airstrip 35 miles south of Da Nang. No planes were damaged, but the Vietnamese took moderate casualties, the spokesman said.

Capture Mayor
Among the government's opponents captured in Da Nang was the city's mayor, Dr. Nguyen Van Man, who was considered a prime mover in the revolt. Ky threatened to execute Man as a Communist plotter last month but later backed away from the threat.

The commander of Ky's Da Nang task force, Brig. Gen. Du Quoc Dong, said the physician-mayor had been taken when he tried to flee the pagoda. He was flown to Saigon.

Miss USA Says Men Must Be Mannerly

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Miss USA said today that good manners for men are a must in her book.

"Men who have bad manners could be called my pet peeve," said Maria Judith Remenyi, who was selected Saturday night.

"I like men to be masculine," Miss Remenyi said. "I hate femininity in men."

Miss Remenyi, a 5-foot-6 brunette was born in Denmark of Hungarian parents and came to this country 10 years ago. She speaks four languages and intends to add a fifth—French—soon.

Miss Remenyi of El Cerrito, Calif., is a junior at the University of California at Berkeley. She represented her home state in a field of 49 beauties from 48 states and the District of Columbia.

A hint of the outcome was given Thursday night when photographers chose Miss Remenyi as "Miss Pixable," indicating she also is photogenic.

Runnersup in the 15th annual Miss USA Pageant were Pat Denne, Miss Connecticut; Elaine Richards, Miss Indiana; Judy Ann Slayton, Miss North Dakota, and Randy Beard, Miss Florida.

Miss Remenyi was born in Tverstedt, Denmark 20 years ago. Her father, Edward A. Remenyi, was stationed there as an officer in the Hungarian army.

Eleven months later the family returned to Hungary. In 1956 the Remenyi family, including Maria and her 5-year-old sister, Elizabeth, fled from Budapest to Austria and then were brought to the United States aboard an Army plane.

"We would have gone to Denmark, but my father's sister, Carmen, had lived in California since 1950 and we decided to join her," Maria said.

The willowy, 118-pound beauty is majoring in physics and hopes to get a doctorate and do research in high-energy physics.

Maria would like to combine marriage and a career and have three or four children. She has shoulder-length hair and measures 35-23-35.

She said she will use the $5,000 prize money to continue her education and take her family to Hawaii.

In July she will return to Miami beach to compete for the title of Miss Universe, now held by Apasara Hongsakula of Bangkok, Thailand.

Flint Man Dies In Gun Battle

FLINT (AP) — A basement gun battle in a Flint home left one man dead and a policeman seriously wounded Sunday.

Killed in the basement of his estranged wife's home was Judy Ann McClard Jr., 25, of Flint. Patrolman John Fitzgerald was reported in fair condition after surgery on a shotgun wound in the abdomen.

Police pieced together this series of events as preceding the gun battle:

McClard telephoned for his wife, Barbara, 24, who was not home. But her mother, Mrs. Hammontré, 55, and her grandmother, Mrs. Dimple Kaplinger, 74, were there.

The women refused to tell McClard where he could locate his wife, and quoted him as saying he was on his way over to kill everyone there.

Later, the women heard someone break in through a basement door and summoned police.

Fitzgerald and other officers surprised McClard, still in the basement.

Seven U. P. Men Make Troopers

EAST LANSING — Seven Upper Peninsula men, including one from Bark River and another from Manistique, were among 48 State Police recruits graduated as probationary troopers in ceremonies Friday.

The graduation brings the State Police officer strength to 1,368, highest ever, but 95 short of authorized strength of 1,463.

Graduates included Kenneth Casperson, a native of Bark River, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Casperson, French Camp, Calif., and Robert E. Mickelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ewald G. Mickelson, 717 Oak St., Manistique.

Casperson was assigned to the Battle Creek Post, Mickelson will go to Paw Paw.

Other Upper Peninsula recruits who graduated were: Lawrence E. Brown, St. Ignace, assigned to White Pigeon; Ronald F. Calouecchi, Kingsford, assigned to Erie; Richard M. Crane, Sault Ste. Marie, assigned to Tekonsha; Peter E. Getzen, L'Anse, assigned to Mt. Pleasant; and Lonnie L. Smrkovski, Marquette, assigned to Flint.

THE MULTIPLE USE theme in the management of National Forests was advanced at meetings of U.S. Forest Service personnel. Included on the tour of facilities was a visit to the

Birch Farm Wildlife Management Area located about eight miles north of Rapid River and one-half mile east of U.S. 41. (Forest Service Photo)

Awards Issued At Junior Rifle Club Meeting

BARK RIVER — The Bark River Junior Rifle Club held its last meeting until fall Wednesday evening in the community hall unless the club participates in the Upper Peninsula State Fair Rifle Shoot.

Ray Meyers, Marksmanship instructor, issued medals and certificates to the following: Patrick Niquette, Charlotte Chase, John Meyers, Connie Adams, Sherry Deiden, Sandra Peterson, and Richard Grzyo. John Meyers fired a perfect target on May 4, the first in the club.

The Directors of the Civilian Marksmanship Contest have been completed. To qualify, contestants must have a score of 250 out of a possible 400. This is a four-position match, sitting, standing, kneeling and prone with 100 points for each position. Seven qualified for marksmanship: Kerry Langlois, David Bugay, Richard Grzyo, Richard Ault, Gregory Meyers, Felix Sachek and Herbert Peterson. Bonnie Meyers qualified as expert marksman which requires a score of 300 or better.

The final report was received on the four month National Post Team Match. There were 130 clubs entered from throughout the United States. The Bark River Rifle Club first team placed 95 with a score of 1686 out of a possible 2,000. The second team, all girls team, placed 96 with a score of 1684; the third team placed 101 scoring 1637.

Three door prizes were awarded this month and winners were Kerry Langlois, Patrick Niquette and Danny Adams.

Supreme Court Rules For Road In Long Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today a struck railroad may make "reasonably necessary" changes in work conditions to keep operating, provided the changes are strictly limited and under court supervision.

The 7-1 decision, announced by Justice William O. Douglas, affirmed the ruling by the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans last July that the Florida East Coast Railway may, under the eye of a federal court in Jacksonville, make "reasonably necessary" changes to keep operating.

The decision covers one part of the dispute in the longest strike in the history of the American railroad industry. The walkout started Jan. 23, 1963.

Forest Project Work Examined

A week-long meeting, May 18-20, was attended by approximately 40 U.S. Forest Service personnel of the Hiawatha National Forest.

The semi-annual meeting provided an opportunity for the Ranger District and Supervisor's Office personnel to meet and exchange ideas, according to Sherwood C. Trotter, supervisor of the Hiawatha National Forest.

The meeting was directed toward the planning and coordination of land management practices for multiple use of the National Forest resources, and was carried forward to a critical examination of forest project work in light of the effects on the Forest.

The National Forests are managed for multiple use of all its resources which includes the timber, water, recreation, and wildlife. The utilization of

Blood Donors Invited To Be 'Walk-Ins'

Persons who have contemplated becoming blood donors but forgot to make an appointment are being encouraged to "just walk in" at either Gladstone or Escanaba.

The Red Cross bloodmobile schedule is:

Tuesday, May 24—James T. Jones School at Gladstone, 3 to 7 p.m.

Wednesday, May 25—Teamsters Hall, Escanaba, 2:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Thursday, May 26—Teamsters Hall, Escanaba, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Donors are asked to note the change to the Teamsters Hall from the First Presbyterian Church in Escanaba as the site of the pre-cure clinic.

The Red Cross is hopeful there will be a good response at this time, since summer-time clinic find many possible donors unavailable or less willing to give blood during the vacation months.

The need for blood remains high, however, both to meet the needs on the home front and those of the U.S. fighting forces in Viet Nam.

Jaycettes Will Meet Wednesday

An educational film produced by the Coca-Cola Company entitled, "Wonderful World," will be shown at the coming meeting of the Escanaba Jaycettes.

The film will show more than 20 of the world's most famous landmarks taken in 60 countries of the world.

At the conclusion of the film, a representative of the Coca-Cola Co., Robert Bink, will speak.

The dinner meeting will be held at the Dells Supper Club at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 25.

Area Men Complete Tax Assessor Course

POWERS — LeRoy J. Nelson Powers, was among the graduates at Michigan Technological University, Thursday, May 19. He, with Philip Tanguay Sr. and Walter Leitzke of Menominee, have completed forty-two weeks of the Tax Assessor Course at MTU under the division of continuing education.

Graduation exercises were held Thursday, May 19, in Fisher Hall on the campus of MTU at 3 p.m. Mr. Nelson has accepted employment in the Equalization Department in Menominee as of June 1. Attending the graduation from Powers were Mrs. LeRoy Nelson, Michael and Georgina and Mr. and Mrs. Hans Nelson. From Menominee, Mrs. Philip Tanguay and son, Philip Jr., and Mrs. Leitzke.

Philip Tanguay Sr., is a brother of Omer Tanguay of Bark River.

The remaining three days of the meeting were spent touring by bus the three western districts. During the tour actual field projects were visited, and examined for correlation with the concepts of multiple use management. Emphasis was placed on ways to improve the coordination of all resources on current and future projects.

Highlights of the field trip were visits to the Steuben Lake pike spawning marsh on the Manistique District being developed by the Michigan State Conservation Department under a cooperative agreement with the Forest Service; a large cordwood sale on the Munising District; and the Birch Farm Wildlife Management Area on the Rapid River District.

Brunelle Heads Lunch Committee

MARQUETTE—Leo J. Brunelle, superintendent of the Escanaba Township Schools, has been appointed chairman of the Upper Peninsula Steering Committee on school lunch and surplus properties, announced E. A. Kuich, president of the U.P. Association of School Board Members and Superintendents.

Members of the committee are Richard Spiecher, Rudyard; Vance Hiney, Marquette; Ted Breitenbach, Escanaba; Victor Borga, Iron Mountain; Jerry Albright, Powers; Mrs. Margaret Snyder, Hancock; Joseph Hampton, Painesdale, and Henry Haskins, Ontonagon.

Keeping The Boom

When officials of the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis toured the Upper Peninsula recently to make soundings on local business conditions, they asked several communities to tell their story. The theme was pretty constant: Rising prices. Shortages. Delays in delivery. Rising costs.

When the bankers were asked why the federal government didn't do something about inflation, because it is a prime cause of it, they explained that this was not a field of inquiry for them. They were just looking into the private economy to see how far inflationary influences had progressed.

(The Federal Reserve System controls credit by setting the rates of interest for commercial banks which do business with it. Its inquiry about inflationary influences was part of its process of decision making about loan policy as a tool of credit control.)

We have here an example of government schizophrenia that builds inflation into the heart of our economic system while the government is using all its publicity weapons to fight it with a great sea of words. President Johnson tells the housewives not to pay too much for food, the farmers (who are struggling for profits) are struck a low blow just as they begin to see economic daylight ahead, and basic industry like steel is given a public whipping if it tries to raise prices to cover some of the costs which government wage policy and other influences have inflicted upon it.

The American economy has enjoyed a great, prolonged boom. Since 1961 production, sales and income have been rising. Fortunately, the expansion has been orderly and not seriously inflationary. (West Germany and other industrial nations have had more inflation than we have.)

In this boom, unemployment has dropped from 7 to 3.7 per cent, average weekly factory wages have increased from $89 to $110 and industrial output has grown 50 per cent.

But now the signs of economic strain are beginning to appear as the Johnson Administration tries to keep the boom going. There has been a cutback in automobile production to relate it more closely to the number of cars that can be sold. As in the case of housing, money — credit — is a bigger problem here than demand. There's lots of demand, but credit is more costly and it's increasingly tight. Prices are climbing and materials and labor are running short.

Demand for almost everything is running beyond the economy's ability to provide it.

The situation calls for the federal government to exercise strong restraint, but President Johnson insists that we can wage the war in Viet Nam and at the same time continue to pour billions of dollars into his Great Society program here at home.

It can't be done and the strain that is developing in the economy is proof of it. Every dollar of the federal government's deficit spending is inflationary and, because it turns over so many times, adds $3 in spending power in an economy that is already overextended.

The government, by credit control and by its own spending policy, determines the stability of the economy. Politics have intruded dangerously in the process this year. A surprising consensus of economists have called for tax increases to ease the inflationary pressures and businessmen have asked the President to cut back on non-defense, delayable spending, but he is loath to do either in an election year. He publicly knocked the Federal Reserve for increasing the discount rate last December, but was politically glad that it was tagged with the restraints and not he.

The price of money has inflated greatly. Prime rate for big corporate borrowers has risen from 4 to 5.5 per cent and the government effort to curb prices by raising money costs without tax increases or reduction of government spending has also helped unbalance the economy. Anti-inflationary action has been delayed so long that it becomes less likely now as the administration tries to wiggle through to election time without a more serious heating up of the economy.

Suburbs Run Down

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A highly respected mayor broke in on a recent scholarly inquiry into state legislatures with a lament that suburban legislators in his state were showing painful disinterest in critical city problems.

U. S. big-city mayors everywhere could appreciate the irony underlying this comment, made to scholars, public officials, businessmen and others attending Columbia University's American Assembly in Harriman, N. Y.

Acting mostly under court duress, some four-fifths of state legislatures have at long last shaken off decades of rural domination maintained through malapportioned representation.

But the changes generally are coming too late to help major cities long starved for proper representation and consequent full state consideration of their problems. It is already the legislative heyday of the nation's bursting suburbs.

The mayor's complaint to assembly participants spoke volumes. There is mounting evidence that suburbs newly and increasingly endowed with a legislative voice will be no more sympathetic to crushing urban problems — poverty, slums, congestion, pollution, crime — than were the previously dominant farmers.

Said one specialist in government: "A great chasm exists between suburbs and cities today. How to close it may be the biggest challenge facing state legislatures."

"The people in the suburbs in many cases ran from the city. They don't want to have to deal with the problems they left behind, nor to spend money to meet them."

It is indeed a strange twist that, at the moment the cities have become the greatest repositories of trouble in the nation, a permanent decline in their political influence may have begun.

Half of the country's 30 largest cities lost population in the 1950-60 decade, including 8 of the first 10. By 1970 more losses may be recorded. Though the United States population is three-fourths urbanized, less than 30 per cent of the people live in cities of 100,000 or more.

When the 1970 census is taken, most urbanized Americans will be living in the suburbs, not the core cities. And the gap will grow, say the population experts.

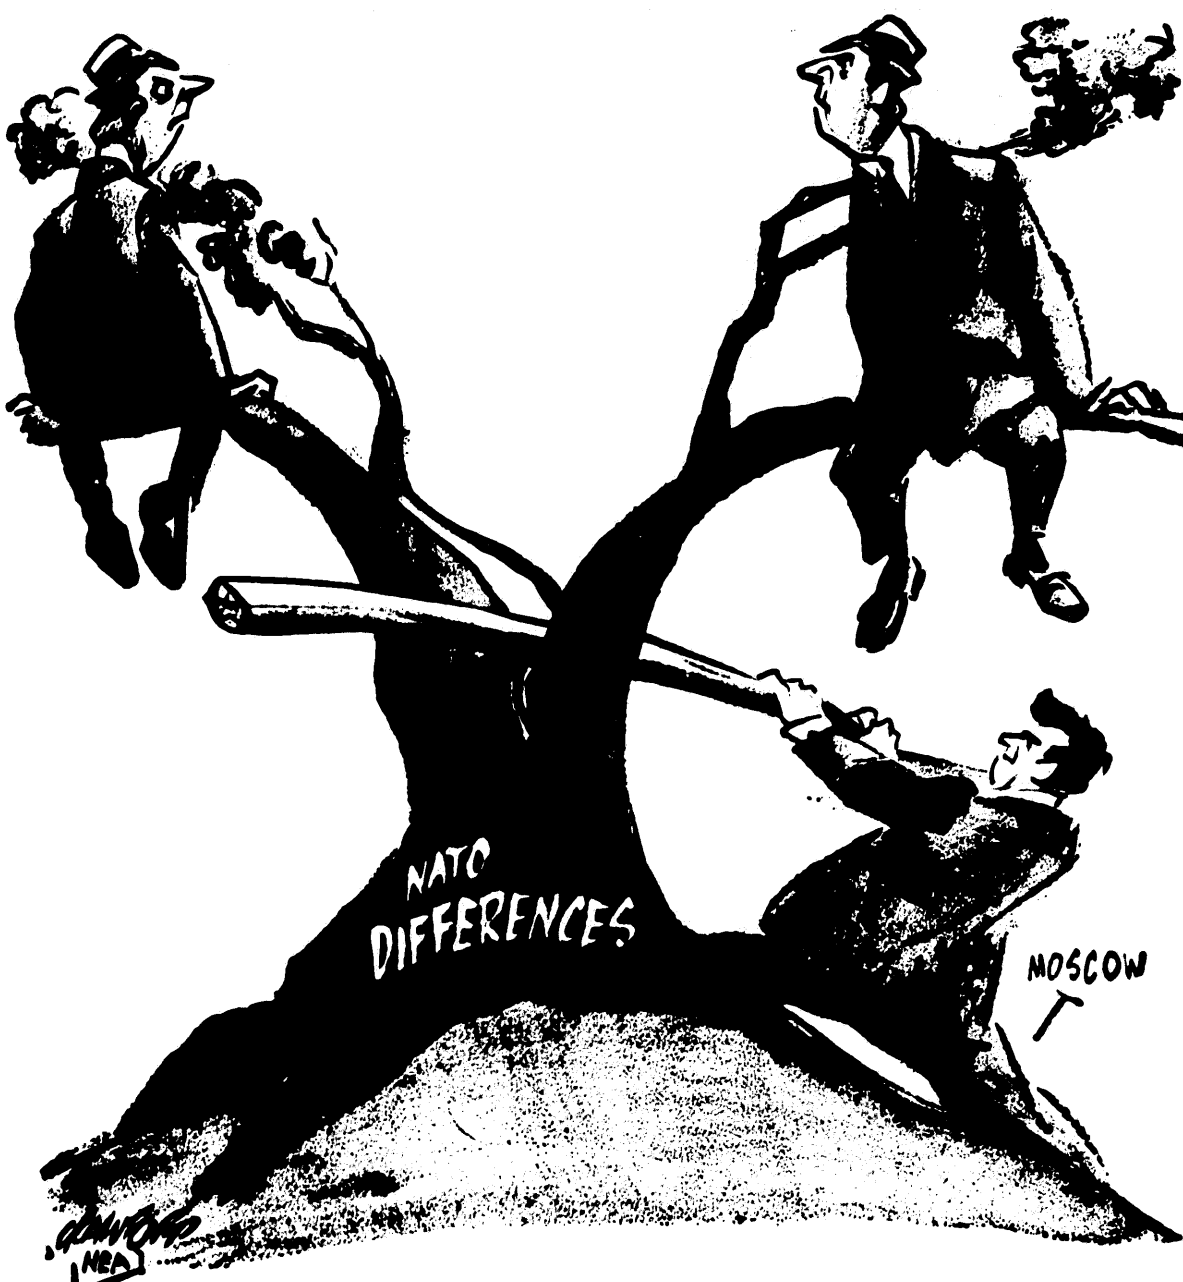

As core city votes decline in number, either absolutely or relatively, so will the power of big city mayors shrink. Suburban delegations to state and national legislatures will be the certain "rulers of tomorrow," observes one political scholar.

Nevertheless, the numerous problems of the core cities — many of them now entangled with the racial struggle — have a durable look to them. One official attending the American Assembly argued that state legislatures will not carve out a bigger role for themselves unless they dig into these difficulties.

Since the suburbanites who soon may run the show seem to be disinclined, this official contends that governors, though jealous of their own often hobbled authority, must push the changing legislatures into action on the problems of the central cities.

The alternative is plain. Washington will handle them. A top executive aide here already has on his desk a tome as thick as a telephone book, listing all the federal-city programs which largely by-pass state authority. The total is growing.

The political power of the cities may well drop off sharply, but their problems are too acute for the nation to ignore.

Outside Buyers Boost Prices

U.P. Land Values Are Rising

If you are looking for waterfront property, head north.

This is the advice given by Perry A. Risberg, Hayward, Wis., realtor who specializes in recreational real estate, in an article written for the bulletin of the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers, New York City.

Risberg says: "East, west or south in the United States, there are very few waterfront lots available for less than $5,000. The cost is far greater in any number of places. Only in northern regions, where there are lakes, can the average man hope to find a lake shore lot within his means."

People used to think our forests were inexhaustible, but learned otherwise. Similarly, Risberg said, lake frontages will prove totally insufficient to meet the demands of the near future. "Not one more foot of natural lake shore exists than there was a thousand years ago. Man can build flowages, creating new lakes, but the opportunities are limited. Further, man-made lakes seldom compare with the natural ones."

Canadian Lakes

Risberg forecasts an increasing interest on the part of U. S. residents in Canadian lakes, despite the distance from most of our urban centers, the chilly swimming waters and the possible complications in foreign ownership.

Describing the phase through which all waterfront property seems to go, regardless of its location, the author pointed out that at first, lacking roads and utilities, the supply of land is greater than demand. Sportsmen purchase sizable acreages at prices that later seem ridiculously low. Inexpensive fishing and hunting camps predominate. Gradually, amenities are added. Increasing demand for a limited supply of waterfront property forces prices to rise. Soon the land is split into expensive vacation homesites.

"Owners' fondness for their spot keeps growing: they pour in money, winterize the premises, and dream of staying longer," Risberg said. "Then the expensive cabins are upgraded, roads are improved, electricity and telephones installed, schools and shops are built. Civilization has descended."

Lakefront Goes "Land values soar, booming lake-shore property suddenly is nonexistent. Where there used to be many lots of a generous size, small portions are now sold by the front foot instead of by the acre. Trends occur in a sequence because the land finally becomes too expensive for even higher priced residential use. Then, all goes commercial. This sequence, illustrating the search for the highest and best use, follows a predictable pattern."

Only two choices remain when a lake becomes surrounded with occupancy. One, Risberg said, "is to seek back lots, preferably close enough to the water's edge, with the hope that access points for the public will not become too crowded. The other is to go steadily further to find new locations. Fortunately, the ease of motoring diminishes distances and traveling time."

Lower Michigan

An Upper Peninsula land manager who made a recent inquiry in the Grayling area downstate about rural land prices in an area where recreational values are well established and rising, reported that he could find no offerings of a 40 acre tract under $1,600.

Just this, he said was a base price. For just the land, and not choice land. It did not include any values like a stream, lake frontage, buildings, forest cover, etc.

This base figure has not been firmly established in the Upper Peninsula yet, because the pressures of recreational landholding have not developed in the Upper Peninsula to the degree that they have in Lower Michigan, with the weekend outpourings of population from Detroit, Grand Rapids, Flint and the other big metropolitan areas.

U. P. Assessing Base The base figure used by assessors in the U. P. is about $300 a forty. Industrial buyers sometimes pay up to $700 and more for a strategic forty for merely land "blocking" purposes without consideration of the value of the soil or the value of any timber on the forty.

Along the Au Sable River in Lower Michigan the value of riverfront is $200 a foot, according to U. P. inquiry at Grayling, and this is not for choice frontage, but for low bank frontage because choice frontage is virtually non-available. The stream is a famed recreational stream, but it is now plagued with pollution which is threatening to destroy its value as a fishing water.

Market More Active

Upper Peninsula realtors have reported no sharp upsurge in U. P. recreation land values, but there has been a more active market in such lands. Lake frontage values have been restored in part from recent low points because of the rising water level of the Great Lakes.

Land managers in the Upper Peninsula are a little nonplused about the new recreational worth element in land values. They have a tradition of valuing land on its soil quality, its woodland cover, its water resources, its availability, the relationship of its area, etc.

These factors add up to a fairly well defined valuation for any rural property. And then comes the new value of worth for recreation. It makes an old farm which can't pay it way as a farm suddenly valuable as a play place for a family which can afford it. This sort of money comes from outside the area and tends to regard abandoned farm places as bargains.

Timber Ownership

A timber owner can only pay as much for a timbered 40 acres as it can earn by its growth, but that needn't trouble the city hunter or group of hunters seeking a hunting area. They can pay anything their budget for recreational lands allows, without any thought of the land's earning capacity as a wood producer or farm crop producer.

This situation makes increasingly commonplace the payment of $2,000 for a forty "of blow sand and scrubby pine." Water frontage land values are reported moving up again, particularly on inland waters. Frontage on the Great Lakes may be found as cheap as $10 a front foot yet, but payment of $50 a foot is being reported increasingly.

The upward trend, after a doldrum period that extended from the flurry of rising land values attending the opening of the Mackinac Bridge in 1957 and expectations of a U. P. boom, marks buying by outsiders more than it does a local bidding up of prices.

A taxing official said "it would be difficult to find anything in eastern Delta County valued at less than $1,000 a forty today."

The Doctor Says:

Purpura May Require Surgery

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

A mother writes that her 3-year-old son gets black-and-blue spots on his legs and hips with swelling of his knees and ankles. His doctor diagnosed idiopathic thrombocytopenic purpura and said that an allergy to foods was the most likely cause. The mother wants to know if any other cause is possible and whether this disease will lead to leukemia.

Idiopathic (of unknown cause) thrombocytopenia is a disease in which hemorrhages under the skin are associated with a deficiency of blood platelets. There are several theories as to its cause. It is more often caused by various drugs than by food allergy but this child was probably not taking any kind of medicine.

Recent studies show that in many cases the disease is due to a parental mismatching similar to that seen in Rh sensitization. Drugs of the cortisone group help some victims but, when this fails, removal of the spleen may be necessary.

Q—My 5-year-old son cries at the slightest thing and is getting worse. Last night his father put him to bed without any supper because he would not stop crying over not being allowed to bring a toy to the table. What can we do to bring him out of this annoying habit?

A—A child who becomes a crybaby has usually been over-protected and has an abnormal feeling of dependency for his age. You must show him that you love him but at the same time refuse to sympathize with his bids for your pity.

Discipline is essential for all children, well or sick, and bringing toys to the table must be nipped in the bud. I am, however, violently opposed to depriving a child of his food as a means of punishment. Even the condemned man about to be executed is allowed to have a hearty meal. A child should be sent away from the table only when he refuses to eat what is set before him.

Q—My 9-year-old daughter has been bleeding from her kidneys since July. In the hospital they found she had tuberculosis of her right kidney. Can this bleeding cause cancer? What can be done to cure her?

A—Bleeding from the kidneys is always serious. Cancer of the kidney would cause bleeding but in your daughter's case the tuberculosis would account for it. Intensive treatment with modern anti-tuberculosis drugs should cure her, but if the damage is too great she may have to have the right kidney removed.

Ann Landers

Did She Ask You To Keep Eye On Place?

Dear Ann Landers: I married a man who took his sweet time about proposing because he always thought I was too young for him. Now I am 55 and look every day of it, thanks to his rotten temper. Every dirty, mean thing that he has ever said to me has left its mark on my face.

Since you are so good with answers, what's your answer to this?

Yesterday my husband was driving me to the dentist. As I got out of the car he said, "Don't let the dentist sell you his most expensive work, Ethel. You're getting up in years and there's no sense putting a fortune into your mouth to lay around in the cemetery."

I was so mad I couldn't speak. What should I have said? — MRS. MAD

Dear Mrs.: You should have told him you plan to be lying around in that cemetery a long time and you are going to get the most expensive work available because you want it to hold up.

Dear Ann Landers: Our next door neighbor is a nice woman in her 70's.

Last week her brother became ill and she left for the coast very suddenly. She gave the key to her home to a 21-year-old grandson and asked him to keep an eye on her house.

We know for a fact that the boy has been using his grandmother's home for sex purposes. The boy and his girl friend have been to the house four times Monday. Last night the boy drove up at 10:30 p. m. The girl arrived at 10:45 p. m. in her own car. The girl left at 3:15 a. m., and the boy left at 3:25 a. m.

I am willing to spend the money on a long-distance telephone call if you advise phoning the grandmother. — CONCERNED

Dear Concerned: I do hope the grandmother returns soon so you folks can get some sleep.

The next time you see the boy enter the house, knock on the door and tell him you wanted to make sure it was a relative and not an intruder. He will then know you are hip.

Drop it there. If the woman has asked you to keep an eye on her place, you would be expected to report to her. Since she gave the key to her grandson, she placed — or should I say, she MISplaced — her trust in him.

Dear Ann: Recently a man in our office was hospitalized. I'm one of those nincompoops who has more heart than brains. I sent him a large bouquet of flowers out of pure friendship but it was misunderstood.

Since the man returned to work he has been very cool. We are both married and I wonder now if perhaps his wife objected. (My husband didn't ask him.)

Should I tell him I'm sorry if the flowers embarrassed him — or should I skip it? — DUMB ME

Dear You: It would have been better, of course, if you had sent flowers with a group (cheaper, too).

Anything you say now would sound defensive and raise his eyebrows another inch — so skip it.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents — if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom." Send 50c in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Let's Look At Deadlines For The Lawmaker

By Dick Barnes

LANSING (AP)—Legislative activity ebbs and flows on a series of deadline dates.

Friday was the deadline for committee action on nonmoney bills already approved by the other house.

What does that mean? Let's examine the terminology.

Committee action: The House and Senate each are divided into many committees. Each proposed law is sent to a committee for consideration. A majority of the committee must recommend the proposed law, or bill, to the full House or Senate for debate. Otherwise the proposal is dead.

Nonmoney bills: Some bills are concerned principally with spending money, such as the bill determining the amount of school aid for the year. Other bills are not money bills, such as those dealing with penalties for violations of the law.

Already approved by the other house: To become a law, the bill must be passed by both the House and Senate. Friday's deadline concerned bills already approved by one house. Deadlines earlier this year dealt with bills in the house in which they were introduced.

What deadlines are left this year?

By June 8, bills which already have passed one house must be passed by the other house or they are dead for the session.

Some bills are passed one way in one house, then amended in the second house. By June 10, these differences must be worked out. Then the Legislature, by its current schedule, will go home for the year.

The Legislature could reconvene later in the year and set up a new series of deadlines in order to consider additional bills.

There is no deadline for committee action on money bills. Money bills have to be approved by June 8 just like nonmoney bills, but the committees could send them to the full House or Senate even minutes before deadline for passage.

The purpose of deadlines is to space out legislative work so it does not all pile up at once. The result is a series of smaller piles.

At Last! $3 Bill That Is For Real

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If you are under 25, chances are that you'll change jobs six times during your lifetime. Even men between 35 and 44 average two more changes before retirement.

Accidents are by far the biggest killers of children. Each year they take the lives of more children between 1 and 14 than the five leading diseases combined. Up to age, 6 one of every four children is hurt in a household accident.

Lake Shipments Double April '65

CLEVELAND (AP)—Shipments of grain and iron ore on the Great Lakes during April were double those of a year ago, the Lake Carriers' Association reports.

Grain shipments totaled 2,749,304 net tons, the highest of any month on record, and iron ore shipments amounted to 5,494,546 gross tons, a six-year high, the association said.

The coal movement of 4,242,924 net tons was about 30,000 tons less than in April, 1965.

The increased tonnage, the Lake Carriers said, reflects the major step toward reasserting the U.S.-backed government's authority in the northern provinces. But Ky still faced major opposition in Hue, the other Buddhist power center 50 miles northwest of Da Nang, and in Saigon itself.

Anti-American Rioting Erupts In Viet Capital

Twenty civilian and military leaders in Hue issued a proclamation charging the junta with using "terrorism, bombing and slaughter" to repress the people of the northern provinces and establish dictatorial rule over them. They also said they would boycott a national congress in Saigon Tuesday called by the government to discuss the country's deep political divisions.

Ky gave no indication whether he would move against Hue, where the Buddhist-controlled radio has been predicting a government invasion since the premier sent 2,500 loyal marines and paratroops to Da Nang eight days ago.

Mysterious Shot

Two hours of anti-American rioting erupted in Saigon outside the main Buddhist Institute after a mysterious shot killed a Vietnamese private as a U.S. military convoy passed by. Eased on by shouts that the Americans had killed the soldier, a mob of youths burned a U.S. military truck and a Jeep. "Burn American cars! Kill Americans!" the youths screamed. A toothless old woman spat on an American correspondent.

The youths roughed up the Jeep's driver, Capt. Earl R. Keeler of Glen Burnie, Md., but he took refuge in a nearby command post for Korean, Australian and other allied troops.

After two hours 1,000 Vietnamese marines and paratroops scattered the mob, hurling tear gas and firing automatic weapons into the air.

First In Month

There were conflicting versions on the origin of the shot that killed the Vietnamese soldier, a bicycle messenger. Buddhist monks said a GI had killed the Vietnamese. Some U.S. sources said the shot was fired by a Vietnamese guard with the convoy, but other American accounts of the incident did not say whether an American or a Vietnamese fired the shot or whether it came from another source.

The riot was the first big display of anti-Americanism since Buddhist monks led their youthful supporters on nightly rampages through Saigon for a week last month in support of Buddhist demands for a civilian government.

Three Men Seek School Election At Rapid River

RAPID RIVER — Three persons will seek election to two vacancies on the Rapid River Board of Education at the annual school election June 13.

Candidates for three-year terms are Lloyd Brannstrom of Ensign; Stanley Dominick of Ensign; and Billy Larson of Rapid River.

Terms of Lloyd Stenlund and Ray Sundquist are expiring. Neither is seeking reelection.

Polls for the election will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the three precincts, the Rapid River Fire Hall, the Ensign Township Hall and the Stonington Community Building.

Brannstrom, a graduate of Rapid River High School, is employed as a welder at Harnischfeger Corp. in Escanaba. He is married to the former LeVergne Karasti of Rapid River and they have twin sons, Kurt and Kent, age 2.

He served two years in the U.S. Army and is a member of Calvary Lutheran Church, where he serves on the church board.

Dominick, a graduate of St. Ladislus High School in Detroit, has lived in the Ensign area for 15 years. He is employed as a laboratory tester at Mead Corp., Escanaba.

During World War II, Dominick held the rank of Staff Sgt. in the Signal Corps and saw duty in Japan.

He is married to the former Mary Mausher of Ensign. The Dominicks have two children, Don, 14, an eighth grade student at Rapid River Junior High School, and Christine, 12, a sixth grader at Bay de Noc Elementary School.

He is a member of Rapid River St. Charles Borromeo Church and serves on the church council and church school board. He is also president of the Rapid River PTA and an organizational leader of the Ensigner 4-H Club.

Larson attended Rapid River schools and received his high school diploma through the Army educational program. He has attended night classes in business administration at Bay de Noc Community College and plans to continue study this fall. He is employed by the Gustafson Oil Co.

Larson served three years with the U.S. Army, stationed at Fort Churchill, Canada.

He is married to the former Gail Columb of Rapid River and they have three children, Debra, 6, a kindergarten student at Bay de Noc Elementary School, William, 5, and Wendy, 4. He is a member of the Rapid River Congregational Church.

Commencement, Class Night Held At Rock

Warren B. Alexander, Division Commercial Manager of Michigan Bell, spoke on, "Desire Makes the Difference," during Rock High School Commencement exercises at the school Thursday evening.

The High School chorus offered several selections, under the direction of Mrs. John Kaminien. Jeanne Linjala gave the valedictory speech and Sally Waak the salutatory.

Supt. George Weingartner gave the introductions, Christine Kanerva, president of the seniors, introduced the speaker. Principal, George Kulack introduced the class and Ahto Waak, President of Board of Education, presented the diplomas.

Class night exercises were presented following exhibition of classroom work. The public judged posters made by students.

The Class night Welcome was given by Christine Kanerva; class history by Bonnie Saari, Anna Peterson, Susie Laine, and Barbara Norden; class statistics by Janis Maki and Raymond Leach; Class Will by Sally Waak and John Norden; Christine Kanerva, senior president, presented the Key of Knowledge to Junior president, Janis Ahlgren; Giltatory by Janet Barron and Jeanne Linjala; Class prophecy by all the seniors. The seniors rendered a song and the school song was sung by audience and seniors in closing.

Capacity audiences attended both events. Graduates are Janet Barron, Charles Dube, Paul Eggleston, Christine Kanerva, Sue Laine, Raymond Leach, Jeanne Linjala, Robert Lippens, Janis Maki, George Micheau, Stephen Nelson, Barbara Norden, Dolores Norden, John Norden, Anna Peterson, Arlene Poenke, Linda Russell, Bonnie Saari, Dennis Verbrugghe, Bernard Vermote, and Sally Waak.

Hayden Micheau accepted the diploma for his son George, who is in St. Luke's hospital in Marquette since an automobile accident April 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Mankiewicz were honored with gifts for being chaperons on the Senior trip. Mankiewicz is the class advisor. The Senior class also donated a gift of money to the Student Loan Fund.

Obituary

MISS EMILY WOLFE

Funeral services for Miss Emily Wolfe were held at St. Joseph's Church at 9 a. m., today, with the Rev. Jordan Telles officiating. The pallbearers were Robert Piche, Lawrence Pavlek, Frank Lindenthal, Reynold Gustafson, Dalip Rehnquist and Ed Collegnon. Burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery.

The Chicago River once flowed into Lake Michigan, but its course was reversed by the Chicago Sanitary and Ship Canal.

City Employees Give $110; Aid Heart Victim

Employees of the City of Escanaba, who read of the need to help little Ralph Moore have a heart operation that will allow him to lead a normal life, dug into their pocketbooks generously — and gave a total of $110.

Ralph, 5, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Moore of Au Train. He has a hole in his heart that will be closed by surgery at Ford Hospital in Detroit on June 10.

But there had to be a guarantee of $300 to pay for the private nurses that Ralph will need after the operation.

Escanaba employees on Friday, responding to the appeal, authorized pay check deductions totaling $110. The money was forwarded to the family by City Controller Frank Bourke, who had suggested the gift.

Robbed Of $1,019

ALLEN PARK (AP)—Gun drawn as protection, pizzaria owner Arthur Pistolet, 49, left his garage to enter his home Sunday with $1,019 in receipts from his business. Two armed, masked gunmen told him to "drop the gun," and he did. The men fled with the money.

Grocery Store Hit By Car

Brayak's Grocery Store at Bay View had an unexpected guest at the front door at 2 p.m. Saturday.

State Police said a car driven by Peter Vanderberg, 18, of Rte. 1, Gladstone, smashed into the front door of the store. Vanderberg left the scene and was later picked up by Escanaba Police, troopers said.

He was ticketed for failing to report a property damage accident, violation of the basic speed law, and not having an operator's license.

The accident was one of two property damage accidents investigated over the weekend by State Police.

Three persons were injured at 7:55 p.m. Saturday in a two-car collision at the intersection of US-2 and County Rd. 513 in Ensign Township.

Troopers reported cars driven by Carol Frizzell, 23, of Rapid River, and Donald Provo, 35, of Milwaukee collided when she pulled out onto the highway as Provo started to pass another vehicle making a right turn onto 513.

Provo and Carol Frizzell were treated at St. Francis Hospital and released. Amelia Carlson, 43, of Rapid River, a passenger in the Frizzell car, was admitted to St. Francis and was listed in "Fairly good" condition today.

Carol Frizzell was ticketed for failing to yield the right-of-way.

Other motorists ticketed by State Police over the weekend were: Lawrence Young, Rte. 1, Gladstone, disregarding stop sign; Joseph Anderson, 1512 N. 19th St., Escanaba, no registration on vehicle; Francis Johnson, Rte. 1, Gladstone, defective equipment; Lyle F. Steed, Rte. 1, Escanaba, violation of basic speed law; Frank Rubick Jr., Spalding, speeding; David Lick, K. I. Sawyer, improper license plates; Joseph Butryn, Rte. 2, Bark River, disregarding stop sign.

Fair Stadium Plan Revealed

DETROIT (AP)—A committee of the Michigan State Fair Authority has revealed it has worked up a plan for a 65,000-seat stadium at the fairgrounds here, to cost an estimated $50 million to $60 million.

"We have been working quietly for 2½ years and have completed all the necessary studies," said Alfred R. Glancy, chairman of the authority's development committee.

He spoke at a meeting of a similar committee set up by Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh.

"The stadium design is completed," Glancy said. "We have our sights set on a 65,000-seat stadium with parking facilities for 20,000 cars."

"The stadium will be domed or not," he said. "A dome can add 50 per cent to the cost. We will build either with the dome or with the idea of putting it on in the future."

The stadium would be built by the fair authority.

Claims Bad Knee, Vows To Refuse Basic Training

PONTIAC (AP)—A young justice of the peace from Rose Township, claiming he has a bad knee, said recently he'll go to jail rather than risk becoming a cripple by taking Army basic training.

George J. Bour III, 24, was to report today for induction. He said he has letters from two doctors saying a knee condition makes him unfit for general military duty.

"They can draft me," said Bour, "but they can't make me march. I won't take basic. I don't care if they throw me in the brig.

"I will notify the Army that I won't follow any orders which could make my condition worse and make me a cripple for the rest of my life," he said.

A draft spokesman said physicians at Ft. Wayne, in Detroit, examined statements from Bour's physicians and refused to change their finding that Bour is fit for military duty.

Bour, who previously had a student deferment, was appointed to his post. He is unmarried.

A doctor described his condition as "the earliest signs of arthritis."

Laughter And Pathos Marks Emmy Awards

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The ex-pirating Dick Van Dyke Show triumphantly collecting four more Emmys. Negro Bill Cosby thanking NBC for having "the guts" to star him. Winner Barbara Stanwyck fighting back tears.

These were among highlights of Sunday night's Television Academy Awards, a slowly paced show that nevertheless developed its own drama.

There was pathos when Paul Davis, art gallery owner, accepted an award for his wife Alice Pearce who played comic neighbor Gladys on the "Be-witched" series and died of cancer a few months ago.

"I ask you to join me in a toast to a wonderful actress, a great human being and the most delicious wife a man could've had," he said.

The nationally televised program was presented from Hollywood and New York. In New York, an award to David Lowe, producer of "KKK—The Invisible Empire," was accepted by his widow, columnist Harriet Van Horne.

The Van Dyke show tied with the Chrysler Theater, the latter including Bob Hope's Christmas special, for the most awards—four.

The Van Dyke program brought Emmys to its stars, Dick Van Dyke and Mary Tyler Moore; its producer, Carl Reiner, and the writers of its "Coast-to-Coast Big Mouth" episode last September 15, Bill Persky and Sam Denoff.

Producer Reiner, accepting his Emmy, paid tribute to the show's crew and cast, including Rose Marie and Morey Amsterdam, in the Hollywood audience.

Backstage, he recalled that the show was canceled after its first year, but that executive producer Sheldon Leonard talked New York executives into renewing it. Sunday night's awards brought the show's total in five years, he said, to 16 Emmys.

Van Dyke has won three Emmys, Miss Moore two.

Miss Moore thanked everybody connected with the show for "five of the happiest years of my life."

Dick said he keeps his Emmys "on a mantel in my bedroom—where I can see 'em."

The program wasn't canceled for next fall, he said. "We on the show decided that five years was a good round number and to quit before we wore out our welcome."

By networks, the breakdown of Emmy awards was NBC 20, CBS 14, ABC 9.

"Batman" (Adam West) and "Robin" (Burt Ward) presented the award for continued performance by a leading actor in a dramatic series. "Holy suspense," cried Ward.

Winner Cosby said, "I extend my hand to a man by the name of Robert Culp (this costar in 'I Spy'). He lost this because he helped me." Culp also was a nominee.

An NBC source said Culp tutored comedian Cosby as an actor at the series' beginning. Culp also wrote six of the "I Spy" scripts, including the first, in which he gave Cosby the lead.

The gray-haired Miss Stanwyck, radiant and emotional in a coral lace-trimmed gown, said backstage she didn't get up immediately when her name was announced because "I thought they said Barbara Parkins (star of the Peyton Place series). Yes, I was on the verge of tears. I really did not expect it this year."

Bricklayers Sign Two-Year Pact

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Washtenaw County bricklayers were to return to work today, following the signing of a two-year contract with the Washtenaw County Contractors Association and the Ann Arbor Home Builders Association Friday.

Terms of the settlement, ending a three week walkout, were not disclosed.

Joseph Wojtowicz business agent for Local 14, Bricklayers Union, said it would not be necessary for union membership to ratify the agreement because they had empowered the negotiating committee to accept a contract.

A spokesman for the contractors said although the bricklayers would be on the job today, their work would be hindered by a continuing strike by carpenters and laborers.

So keep talking!

More Michigan people are making more phone calls this year than ever before.

Take local calls, for example. Michigan Bell customers are dialing a million more local calls a day. And the number keeps growing all the time.

Obviously, your telephone company has to grow too, in order to keep up with the growth in calling.

And grow we will—to the tune of $180 million for construction in 1966... $45 million more than last year. That's the largest construction program for any year in Michigan Bell's history.

So, keep talking. To your friends, to your family, to your customers, to your suppliers.

If now and then you experience a delay in getting your calls through, please accept our apology. And our assurance that we're doing everything we possibly can to make telephone service even faster and better than ever before.

MANISTIQUE

Two Honored For Cultural Service

In a Michigan Week Cultural activities program Friday night in Manistique High School, Samuel R. Rosenthal, scholarship donor and attorney, and J. Earl Cousineau, teacher and musician were honored.

The award for Mr. Rosenthal, who established a scholarship at Manistique High School honoring his parents, Lazarus and Rachel Rosenthal, was received by Dorothy M. Shipman, retired Manistique and Adrian librarian who was chairman of the observance. Carl Olson, a friend made the presentation.

The award honoring Mr. Cousineau for service to youth in the school and to various cultural activities as vocalist and song leader was presented by Msgr. F.M. Scherlinger.

Community groups participated in a program of song and drama in the program and Mr. Cousineau sang. Following presentation of the Schoolcraft County favorite son award for Mr. Rosenthal, the Municipal band played selections dedicated to Ferdinand Gorsche, long-time member and leader.

The program closed with singing of Auld Lang Syne by Earl Cousineau.

Student Intern To Serve At Trinity Church

STONINGTON -- The student intern who will be serving Trinity Lutheran Church, Stonington and Calvary Lutheran Church, Rapid River, during June, July and August will be Robert G. Lundgren. The Lutheran Church in America's Board of American Missions has a program for parishes in vacation areas, whereby assistance may be received so that the church may better serve its own people and vacationers coming into the area.

Responsibilities of the intern will be to conduct morning worship services, assist in the Vacation Church School programs, call on members of the church and contact vacationers in the area. His coming makes it possible to have two services throughout the summer at Calvary and also services each Sunday at Trinity.

Robert G. Lundgren is from Salina, Kan. and Immanuel Lutheran Church of that city. He is a graduate of Bethany Lutheran College, Lindborg, Kan., and had done graduate work at Texas A&M University. He is in his first year at the Lutheran School of Theology, Rock Island, Ill. He will arrive on May 31 and will reside in Stonington.

Lower Food Prices Depend On Weather

NEW YORK AP -- It looks as if the weatherman is in cahoots with the gremlins in the nation's food markets.

Federal officials predicted food prices would go down later this year, with a lot of ifs, including if the weather behaved.

This week, freezes caused severe damage to the fruit crops in the Great Lakes region -- damage that is likely to show up in the form of higher prices in the stores, first in fresh fruit and then canned and frozen supplies.

In southwestern Michigan, Clifford Conrad, Berrien County agricultural agent, said the losses in that bumper fruitducing county alone might run $5 to $10 million.

"Cherries are about shot," said Frank Klackie, Kent County, Mich. horticultural agent.

In Ohio, serious damage was reported to the peach, pear and apple crops.

Apples were damaged in New York's Hudson Valley, berries in southern Illinois, and sweet cherries, strawberries and grapes near Erie, Pa.

The freeze came after heavy rains cut the onion, potato and carrot crops in Texas. Those rains already are being felt in higher vegetable prices.

Temperatures in the 90s in eastern Washington and dry weather have added to the woes of pea growers after one of the worst freezes in history last month.

Housewives may face higher prices for frozen peas as a result.

Damage to the orange crop was not as bad as originally feared.

Lettuce, delayed by cool weather, is increasingly plentiful, and prices finally are headed lower.

The federal government pointed to the possibility of lower prices later this year for livestock, poultry, eggs, potatoes and vegetables.

Pork, which played a major role in soaring food prices last winter, has been up and down this week.

Some beef and pork prices are reported lower across the country, with the emphasis on advertised specials.

Witnesses To Attend Special Training Meet

Fifty persons from Escanaba are leaving Friday to attend a ministerial training program for Jehovah's Witnesses in Iron Mountain this weekend.

Edward Palmcock, presiding minister of the local congregation, coordinated travel arrangements and is heading the delegation.

"Upwards of 500 persons from Upper Michigan and Northeastern Wisconsin are expected," Palmcock said. "The purpose of the program is to provide advanced training in the ministry and encourage individual study of the Bible."

Everett E. Knickmeyer of Brooklyn, N. Y., acting district supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses in the Midwest, is the keynote speaker. Knickmeyer is scheduled to address the delegates several times during the weekend. Sunday, May 29, at 3 p.m. he will deliver the main address, "Does God Have Influence in the Twentieth Century?"

Otto Kugler, also of Brooklyn area supervisor for the Witnesses, is handling final preparations for the program.

All sessions will be held in the Iron Mountain High School and the program is sponsored by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York.

Thursday and Sunday congregational meetings will be cancelled due to the Iron Mountain assembly.

Ruppe Cites Growth Needs For District

Political cynicism was charged to Cong. Raymond Clevenger on Mackinac bridge tolls by Philip A. Ruppe of Houghton, Republican candidate for 11th district congressman on a visit here Saturday.

Ruppe said 20,000 cards had been sent to Clevenger concerning toll reduction on the Mackinac bridge.

"If this had been done 1 1/2 years ago, something could have been done about it. Desired results could probably have been attained. As it is the cards are doing a remarkable job of reminding the congressman what his duty is," he said.

Inflation
It appears there was little desire to do anything until the eve of the election, when it is expedient to make some effort, he observed.

Ruppe said the Mackinac bridge toll is a factor in tourist and industrial development of the peninsula. As an example, he cited that a mill is sought to utilize the surplus woods of the eastern Upper Peninsula. Present tolls increase the cost of goods sent downstate.

Inflation also is an issue, particularly for this area, where the economy is behind compared to the state in general. The three per cent cost of living increase makes a bigger proportionate erosion in the economy of families in this area as a result, he noted.

Improve Economy
There is a definite possibility President Johnson will introduce a 5 per cent increase in the income tax to control inflation, so the people will lose even more. It doesn't seem that is the way to control inflation, he suggested.

Ruppe is a bank director and a businessman. He has served on the Veterans Trust fund board, is on the committee for St. Joseph Hospital at Hancock, is on the advisory council for naval affairs for a Naval Reserve unit, and a past president of the Copper Country Vacationists League.

Knows Area
The candidate said the method of inflation control he favors would be a cut in excess cost of government, where programs are of more political than economic benefit, and re-analysis of foreign policy.

War on poverty programs should be examined to determine what could and should be done, and determine what is turning out to be a costly political device. There are pockets of poverty, and these need attention. Improved economic conditions for the area, to provide jobs for those re-educated, and research in low grade ore utilization, to aid Iron and Gogebic county areas were stressed.

Ruppe has twice visited each county in the 11th district, which comprises all of Upper Michigan and the northern part of Lower Michigan and has been researching issues for some time. He covered the counties in the district in connection with business for five years and the Upper Peninsula for 10.

McNamara Has New Role: For Dissent Right

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since he became secretary of defense, many have viewed Robert S. McNamara as a kind of super-efficient man-machine with a computer brain and a soul to match. But in two speeches within five days McNamara displayed a side rarely seen in public.

Before the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Montreal Wednesday, he spoke in an idealistic and philosophic vein as he expounded the thesis that military hardware alone cannot assure security.

Sunday, before his daughter's graduating class in Pittsburgh, the defense secretary appeared as a defender of "freedom of dissent" — standing up for the right of campus protesters to demonstrate against the Viet Nam war even though McNamara said, it is clear these actions give comfort to the enemy.

That Chatham College commencement speech — salted with historical and literary quotations and references — demonstrated a sympathy with the concern of some youths that man is becoming dominated by technology. He sought to dispel that fear.

"For many students," McNamara said at one point, "the computer has become the primordial symbol of mass impersonalization."

"It is ironical that this should be so," he continued, "considering the immense quantum of human drudgery — both mental and manual — that the computer has eliminated."

State Anglers Die In Canada

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (AP) — Two Michigan fishermen and their Canadian pilot were killed when their light plane crashed in heavily wooded lake country some 50 miles northeast of here Saturday.

Dead are Roland E. Pollington, 37, of Coleman, Mich.; James Gardiner Watson, 29, of Midland, Mich.; and the pilot, Richard Clark, 20, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

Ontario Provincial Police said the plane was chartered here from the Air-Dee Flying Service, which frequently flies fishermen into the many lakes in the area.

Observers on the ground watched as the Cessna 180 circled Laughing Lake, the police said. The pilot banked to the left to head the pontoon-equipped plane for a landing on the lake. Instead, it spiraled and plunged into the heavy woods. Police quoted observers as saying the engine apparently failed.

E. R. Dale, owner of the flying service, flew two police constables and a coroner to the scene Sunday and brought out the bodies.

Dinner To Fete Soapy's Return

Over 100 persons are expected to welcome former Gov. G. Mennen Williams back to the state political arena in a "Welcome Back Soapy" dinner at 6:30 p. m., Wednesday at the House of Ludington.

Williams will arrive in Escanaba at 2:30 p. m., as part of a campaign tour of the Upper Peninsula.

His itinerary includes stops in all 15 Upper Peninsula counties.

Williams visits Keweenaw, Houghton, Baraga and Ontonagon Counties today, before moving to Gogebic, Iron and Dickinson Counties Tuesday.

Included in his program Wednesday, besides his appearance in Escanaba, are a breakfast at Iron Mountain and a luncheon program in Menominee.

At 9:15 a. m., Thursday he will meet with Democratic party leaders at Callihan's Restaurant in Manistique. He will also go to Munising and Marquette Thursday and make stops at Newberry and Sault Ste. Marie Friday. Before returning to Detroit Saturday he will campaign at St. Ignace.

Williams is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate. Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh is also a candidate.

General chairmen for the dinner program in Escanaba are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tobin Jr. Tickets for the dinner are available to the general public at Gust Asps or the Piggly-Wiggly store.

Fishing, Boating Arrests Reported

Two men paid fines and costs totaling $25 after pleading guilty Saturday before Justice A. J. Mortier of Gladstone to separate conservation charges.

James Easoz, Chicago, paid $10 on a charge of taking small-mouth bass during a closed season.

Frank A. Lombardi, 19, of Rte. 1, Escanaba, paid $15 for operating a motorboat without proper registration.

Conservation officers noted that all boats operated with a motor must be registered and contain a 1966 sticker. Registration numbers previously obtained are still valid, officers said, but white stickers expired on Dec. 31, 1965.

New yellow stickers are valid through Dec. 31, 1966. Application for the new stickers can be made at any branch office of the Secretary of State.

Mrs. Bartol is a graduate of Escanaba high school and of St. Francis Hospital School of Nursing, Peoria, Ill. She was employed in the obstetrical department of St. Francis Hospital in Escanaba. She also has four children, Tom, Frances, Jerry and Mary Ann.

Six Are Killed In 175 Crash

By The Associated Press

Four members of a Livonia family were killed, two occupants of another car died, and three children were hospitalized as the result of a collision Sunday night on I 75 near Monroe.

Monroe County Sheriff's officers said Wallace D. Dupree, 25, of Romulus, was northbound on the six-lane highway when his car jumped the median and crashed into a small foreign-made bus. Dupree and his passenger, Patricia Wood, 20, of Monroe, died.

The bus was driven by John Hartley, 30, of Livonia. His wife, Nancy, 29, and two of their children, John Jr., 7, and Chris, 2, were killed instantly. Hartley died hours later at a Toledo, Ohio, hospital.

Two Hartley children, Patricia, 9, and Craig, were in critical condition at the University of Michigan Medical Center at Ann Arbor. Another daughter, Denise, 5, was in fair condition at St. Vincent's Hospital in Toledo.

A second accident minutes later as the victims of the collision were being removed injured six others, including a Monroe County deputy sheriff who was directing traffic.

Officers said a car driven by William Scarffe, 37, of Monroe, crashed into the rear of another auto which had slowed to pass the wreckage.

Officer Dallas Rod, 28, who was directing cars around the wrecked car and bus, said he heard the car hit the median and then "I was on my back."

The six fatalities brought the weekend total to 24. The Associated Press tabulation began at 6:00 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Wilbur J. Fern and his wife, Lucille, both 64-year-old Toledo residents, in a head-on collision Saturday in Monroe County west of Dundee. Fern was dead at the scene. His wife died Sunday in a Tecumseh hospital.

Yanks Moving In American League Race; Five In Row

By The Associated Press
Two weeks ago when Ralph Houk took over the New York Yankees they were both going to pot.

Now only Houk is. The new Yankee manager still can't climb into his old uniform but the Yankees have managed to climb into a tie for seventh place by putting together a five-game winning streak capped by Sunday's 5-3 and 2-1 sweep of the Minnesota Twins.

The twin triumphs were the 10th and 11th in 14 games under Houk, who took over the club from Johnny Keane in Los Angeles two weeks ago last Saturday, tried on his old No. 35 uniform and found that sitting behind a desk for two years had caused a pot belly.

He wore No. 51 in Los Angeles—the uniform belonged to Pete Mikkelsen, who had been traded—then phoned New York and asked the Yankees to get the No. 35 uniform tailored to his new measurements. Then he started to do a tailoring job on the Yankees.

He immediately designated

Joe Pepitone the clean-up hitter, and the first baseman showed why against the Twins by driving in three runs in the opener and hitting a game-winning double in the eighth inning of the nightcap.

The Yankees still are 8½ games behind the front-running Cleveland Indians, who swept a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox 3-2 and 4-1. Elsewhere, Detroit edged Baltimore 3-2, Boston defeated Kansas City 5-1 and Washington downed California 6-2 before the Angels won the nightcap 2-1.

The Indians broke a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning of the opener when Max Alvis singled, moved up on a grounder and scored on Rocky Colavito's single. Fred Whitfield broke up the nightcap with a two-run double in a three-run seventh inning. John O'Donoghue got the second game victory with a three-hitter and now has four victories in as many games.

Don Wert drove in two of the Tigers' runs with squeeze bunts and the third crossed when pitcher Frank Bertina threw wild on the second bunt. The Orioles had a chance to tie it in the ninth but Frank Robinson was thrown out at the plate, Willie Horton to Bill Freehan, when he tried to score from second on a single by Brooks Robinson.

The Red Sox were held to one hit by Ralph Terry until they rushed across three runs in the seventh and broke a 1-1 tie. A ground rule double by Dalton Jones, who earlier homered, and Joe Foy's single produced the go-ahead run. Pitcher Earl Wilson also singled in a run, then went on to complete a four-hitter.

The Senators won their fifth straight in the opener with a three-run second inning uprising putting it out of reach. Jim King, Frank Howard and winning pitcher Pete Richert each drove in runs. Jimmy Piersall doubled in Tom Satriano with the decisive run in the fifth inning of the nightcap as the Angels snapped a six-game losing streak.

Umpire, Aaron Pick On Leo; Cubs Split With Atlanta Club

By The Associated Press
Leo Durocher said what Harry Wendelstedt did to him was illegal. He could have said the same about Hank Aaron.

Wendelstedt, a rookie umpire in the National League, ejected Durocher from the opener of the Chicago-Atlanta doubleheader Sunday, marking the first time the Cubs' manager has been tossed out of a game this season.

Aaron was even rougher on Durocher, rapping four hits and driving in two runs as the Braves won the game 5-2. The Atlanta veteran came back with two more hits in the nightcap, but the Cubs pulled it out 4-3.

Durocher, managing again after a nine-year absence from the top job, was thrown out at the start of the fourth inning.

Durocher explained that some of the Cubs were riding Wendelstedt, and the plate umpire came over to the dugout and threatened to eject Durocher if they didn't stop.

"I wasn't the one saying anything," Durocher said. "Why did he pick on me?"

Aaron picked on Durocher, too. He went into the doubleheader with three straight hits and extended his streak to eight, two away from the National League record, before Ernie Broglio struck him out in the fourth inning of the nightcap.

Aaron, batting .250 when the day started, raised his average to .279 by collecting six hits in seven at-bats. He lashed three singles and a double in the opener and two singles in the second game.

Elsewhere in the National League San Francisco blanked New York 5-0 before bowing 7-2, Pittsburgh stopped Los Angeles 4-0, Philadelphia whipped Houston 6-1 and St. Louis edged Cincinnati 4-3.

Unbeaten Juan Marichal gained his eighth victory and third shutout, blanking New York on three hits in the opener. The Giant ace also extended his lifetime record over the Mets to 15-0. Jim Hart knocked in three runs, two with a third-inning homer.

The Mets came back in the second game behind Jack Hamilton's six-hit pitching. Hart belted his 11th homer, but Ron Swoboda's homer and a two-run triple by Ed Bressoud were enough for Hamilton.

Pittsburgh's Bob Veale styled the Dodgers on five hits and received support from Donn Clendenon's run-scoring single in the first inning and a two-run double by Manny Mota in the fourth. Maury Wills stole the 400th base of his career for Los Angeles in the ninth.

Philadelphia received eight-hit pitching from Jim Bunning and eight walks from three Houston pitchers. Clay Dalrymple drove in two runs with a single and a bases-loaded walk.

Orlando Cepeda let in the tie-breaking run with a throwing error in the seventh inning but came back with a run-scoring single in the ninth that pulled St. Louis into a 3-3 deadlock. Cincinnati's Leo Cardenas threw wildly on the single, and Curt Flood raced home with the winning run.

Uncle Sam Eyes Clay, Taxes As Champ Returns

LONDON (AP) — Cassius Clay returns home Tuesday with two potential opponents in mind and an unbeatable foe in his future.

Clay mentioned both Doug Jones and West Germany's Karl Mildnerberger as possible opponents for his next fight — which he said will be in about two months — after disposing of London's Henry Cooper in six rounds Saturday night.

Of perhaps more immediate concern to the unbeaten heavyweight champion, however, is the one guy even Cassius admits he can't take out.

"There's one who's too tough for me," Clay said. "Old Uncle Sam. I can't take him on."

And Uncle has some designs on Clay. First, the Internal Revenue Service wants about $115,000 of the reported $350,000 Clay received for the scheduled 15 rounder in an outdoor soccer stadium.

Then there's the matter of Clay's draft status, currently 1-A, which Cassius, alias Muhammad Ali, is appealing on the basis of religion and financial hardship. He's a Black Muslim and has appealed that he's a conscientious objector.

He echoed those sentiments after opening a 12-stitch cut over Cooper's left eye, a cut that pumped blood all over both fighters, spotted the ring, sprayed over ringside reporters and forced referee George Smith to stop it at 1:38 of the sixth round.

"I was sorry to see it end like that," Clay said. "I don't mind admitting I was a bit disturbed by all that blood. I didn't really want the violence to continue. I don't really like hurting anyone. It's against my religion."

"It was terrible to see him cut so much. I didn't really relish hitting him when I saw the blood spurt."

Up until that point the 32-year-old Cooper had been doing very well, pressing the fight all the way, while Clay danced away in a clockwise motion, always moving away from Cooper's only real weapon — a left hand that knocked Cassius down in a non-fight three years ago. Cassius came back to win that one on a fifth-round cut of Henry's tender eyes.

The Associated Press gave Henry the first two rounds, called the third even and gave the fourth and fifth to Clay. Under British rules, the referee is the only official and his card is never announced.

There were no knockdowns and no one was really hurt until Clay opened the cut.

Torres Hints At Clay Shot

NEW YORK (AP) — If heavyweight king Cassius Clay runs out of opponents in his own division and is still available for boxing, he may find light heavyweight champion Jose Torres knocking on his door.

Torres, easy conqueror of Wayne Thornton in a title defense at Shea Stadium Saturday night, hinted he would like to take on Clay, who stopped Britain's Henry Cooper on cuts in the sixth round in London.

The 30-year-old ruler of the 175-pound class said he watched the telecast of Clay stopping Cooper and declared: "I had more trouble with Thornton than I would have with Clay."

Torres scored two first round knockdowns and soundly drubbed Thornton, the No. 1 contender from Fresno, Calif., in a brawl marred by the challenger's constant fouling.

The handsome, 26-year-old Californian broke every rule in the book, butted a small cut over Torres' right eye in the first round, and kept grabbing the champion's powerful left arm as if it was a loose $100 bill.

Cus D'Amato, former manager of ex-heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, and now one of Torres' advisors, said he was confident his 5-10, 175-pound protege could beat the 6-3, 201-pound Clay.

Torres won the decision over the 174-pound Thornton by a lopsided margin. The officials had him ahead by the following round scores: Judges Al Beri and Artie Aidala, 10-4-1 each, and referee Johnny LoBianco, 12-2-1. The AP card had it 13-2 for Torres.

Thornton, winner of six straight previously, meant he was hit by a shot in the kidney in the first round "and I never got over it. I thought a kidney punch was illegal here. After that I didn't have any snap. I had no power to stay on him."

Clay said, "I don't mind admitting I was a bit disturbed by all that blood. I didn't really want the violence to continue. I don't really like hurting anyone. It's against my religion."

JIM HANSEN launches the shot put for an all-time Upper Peninsula Class A-B record at the U.P. finals meet in Marquette Saturday. Hansen, undefeated in his specialty this season, tossed the 12 pound ball 53 feet 8 inches on his first throw in the finals Saturday afternoon for the new record, breaking the old mark of 52-7/8 set by Dave Manders of Kingsford in 1958. Jim Hansen Shatters U.P. Shot Put Record

By RAY CRANDALL
(Press Sports Editor)
MARQUETTE — Muscular Jim Hansen stood still as a statue on the red-ringed slab of cement, maintaining perfect balance with a slight tapping of his backward-extended left foot.

Suddenly the Escanaba High School senior whirled across the ring with an incredible burst of speed and flung his sturdy right arm skyward. A 12 pound iron ball arched through the bright sunlight at Memorial Field and thudded to the earth as spectators, competitors and meet officials gasped in admiration.

Years of dedication, mile upon mile of roadwork, untold hours of concentrated study of technique were justified in that one fabulous flip that rewrote the Upper Peninsula high school shot put record.

Managers Make Babe Ruth Picks

Escanaba Babe Ruth baseball managers made their final player selections Saturday to fill rosters for the 1966 season which will open Saturday, June 4.

Players selected are to pick up their uniforms at Club 314 at 4:15 p. m., Tuesday and Wednesday. Parents of boys who have graduated from the program are asked to return uniforms to Club 314 or to Fred Craville, 704 S. 16th St.

Practice for the week is scheduled at the Babe Ruth diamond with one exception, as follows: May 23, Bankers; May 24, Kiwanis; May 25, Harnischfeger; May 26, Insurance at Al Ness Field; May 27, Teamsters — all at 6 p. m.; Saturday, May 28, Mead at 9 a. m., Harnischfeger 1 p. m., Bankers 3 and Kiwanis 6.

The complete season schedule will be published this week.

The following player selections were made Saturday:

Harnischfeger: Tom Dufour manager — Douglas Howard, Allen Thorbanson, Leonard Smith, Joseph Peacock, Tom Rader.

Tough Battle For Net Team

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — The U.S. Davis Cup team headed for home and hard work today after a much tougher fight than the squad bargained for in its 4-1 American Zone victory over the West Indies.

George MacCall, U.S. team captain, said a stunning doubles loss to Jamaicans Richard Russell and Lance Lundsen well "spur us into even harder training when we return home."

Cliff Richey and Arthur Ashe won their singles matches Sunday to insure a U.S. victory after Ashe and Charlie Pasarell were upset in five sets by the Jamaican doubles pair.

Pickford Extends String

Stephenson Is New U.P. Track Titlist

MARQUETTE — The Pickford Panthers extended their fantastic Class D track and field victory string to 15 years and the Stephenson Eagles captured their first Class C title in the history of the school in the U.P. finals here Saturday.

Pickford's unprecedented string of Class D titles began in 1952 and Coach Webb Morrison's Panthers have been unbeatable since then.

Stephenson had never before captured a U.P. Class C track crown although the Eagles won the U.P. championship as a Class B school in 1955.

Coach Guss Lord's Eagles displayed great depth to go with only three individual victories to score 38 1/2 points. Runnerup in the field of 13 schools was Wakefield with 27.

Ken Kline gave Stephenson a first in the mile run, coming home in 4:46.6. Mark Dougovito breezed home first in the rugged 880 yard run, hitting the tape in 2:07.4 to nip Mike Adrianson of Stambaugh by a tenth of a second.

Dougovito also grabbed a second in the high jump with a leap of 5 feet 8 inches. He also ran a leg on the Eagle mile relay team that won in the time of 3:41.1.

Other major point producers for Stephenson included Bob Nerat second in the shot put, Dave Bush second in the 440 yard dash and tied for fifth in the high jump, Ron Stromgren the old record of 52 feet 7 3/4 inches which was set in 1958 by Dave Manders of Kingsford, now a successful professional football player with the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League.

Hansen's record breaking toss came on his first effort in the finals and he bettered the previous standard on his two remaining throws, but neither was as far as his initial heave.

The Eskymo standout was in a class by himself Saturday. On his very first pitch in the qualifying preliminaries he got off a tremendous toss of 50 feet 3 inches. No other athlete in the meet was able to match that distance all day.

The eventual runnerup, Bob Tamblin of Negaunee, was a distant five feet short of Hansen's winning performance at 48 feet 8 inches.

Saturday's record setting throw climaxed a glittering prep career for the bespectacled Eskymo athlete.

Throwing in the shadow of big Bill Samowski last season, Hansen got out to 54 feet 1 1/4 inches for his best performance, but was unable to match it in the finals and settled for second place behind Samowski, who had also won the U. P. championship the previous year when Hansen was a sophomore.

Other shotputters in the past have managed tremendous distances in regular season competition and a few have been able to top the magic 50 foot mark in the U. P. finals. But no one in U. P. history had ever been able to come through with a toss as great as Hansen's when it counted for record consideration, and that's the mark of a true champion.

The Merchants clinched it with two runs in the first and two more in the second.

Country Club's Pari-Mutuel Set

The Escanaba Country Club will stage its annual pari-mutuel golf tournament Monday, May 30, with a shotgun start at 8:30 a.m. Deadline for entry is Thursday at 6 p.m.

Tied for first in Saturday's best ball event were the teams of Dick Pariso-Dexter Babcock and Byron Zeni-Matt Smith with net 67s. Second were Ron Koth-John Sankovich with a 68.

Low scorers for the day were Fran Boyce 75, Don Scott 80, John Fawcett 81, Bill Eis Jr., 81 and Dick Knoll 81.

Crusaders Top Gwinn Golfers

Holy Name defeated Gwinn in a dual golf match at the Escanaba Country Club, 735 strokes to 808 and 19 1/2 points to 4 1/2.

Crusader scores: Pelletier 41-82, Snow 43-43-86, DeForge 41-44-85, Ross 43-45-88, Ryan 51-43-94, Guay 49-45-94, Anzalone 50-43-93, Morrow 55-58-113.

Gwinn scores: Erickson 49-42-91, Hines 43-44-87, Lefrink 46-47-93, S. Vanderhoff 50-51-101, Dykes 50-50-100, Kough 52-52-104, G. Vanderhoff 60-63-123, Nickerson 54-55-109.

Two Racers Die In Sprint Event

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Two race car drivers were killed and a third was injured in two accidents at the Air Capital Speedway Sunday night. They were driving sprint cars.

Killed were Lee Smith 43, Lakewood, Colo., and Darrin Burkholder, 31, Seneca, Kan.

Bob Chester of Denver, Colo., was injured. He is in satisfactory condition in a hospital.

JIM BOYLE, Escanaba's classy junior athlete, is shown in action in the 120 yard high hurdles finals at the Upper Peninsula championship meet in Marquette Saturday. Boyle, left, is neck and neck with Soo's Brad Shouldice in a thrilling run that drew a standing ovation from the huge crowd at Memorial Field stadium. Tigers Set For Indian Attack; Orioles Victim

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, having successfully knocked the Baltimore Orioles out of second place, rested up today for an attack on the league leading Cleveland Indians.

The Tigers took three out of four games from the Orioles in a weekend series at Baltimore. The Indians came to town Tuesday.

Don Wert drove in two runs with squeeze bunts as the Tigers edged Baltimore 3-2 Sunday.

The Tigers scored two runs in the third without a hit and added another in the fifth. All three came after Wert executed successful squeeze plays.

LUCKY STRIKE

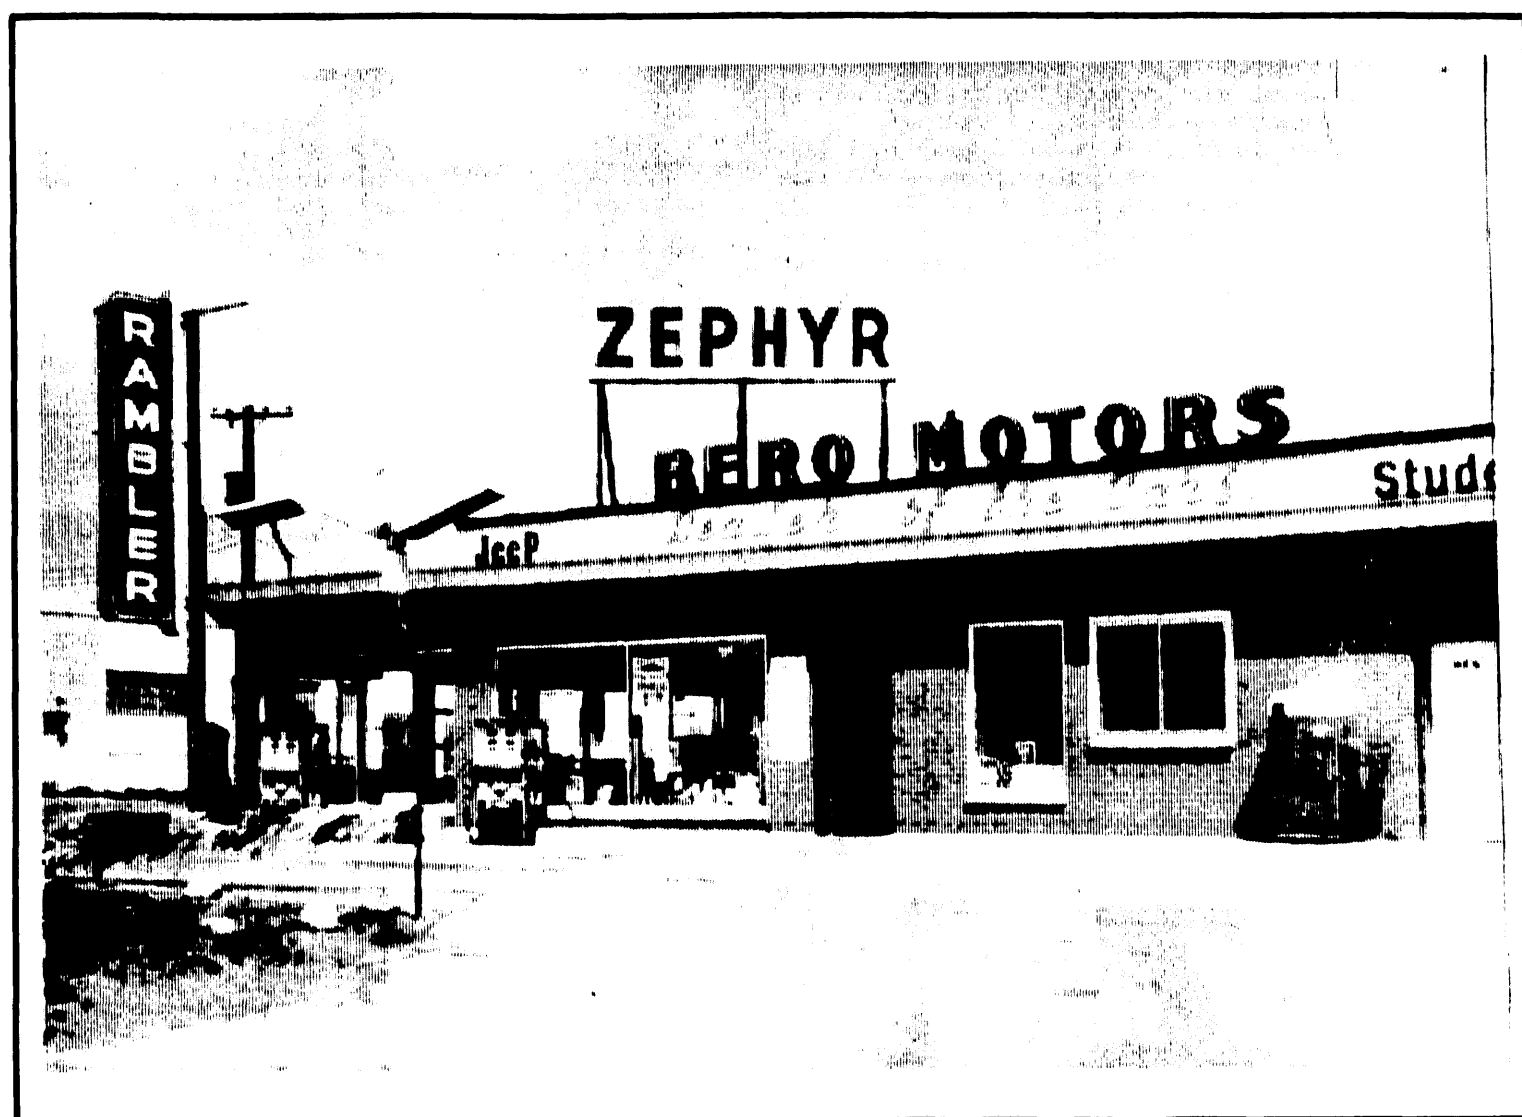

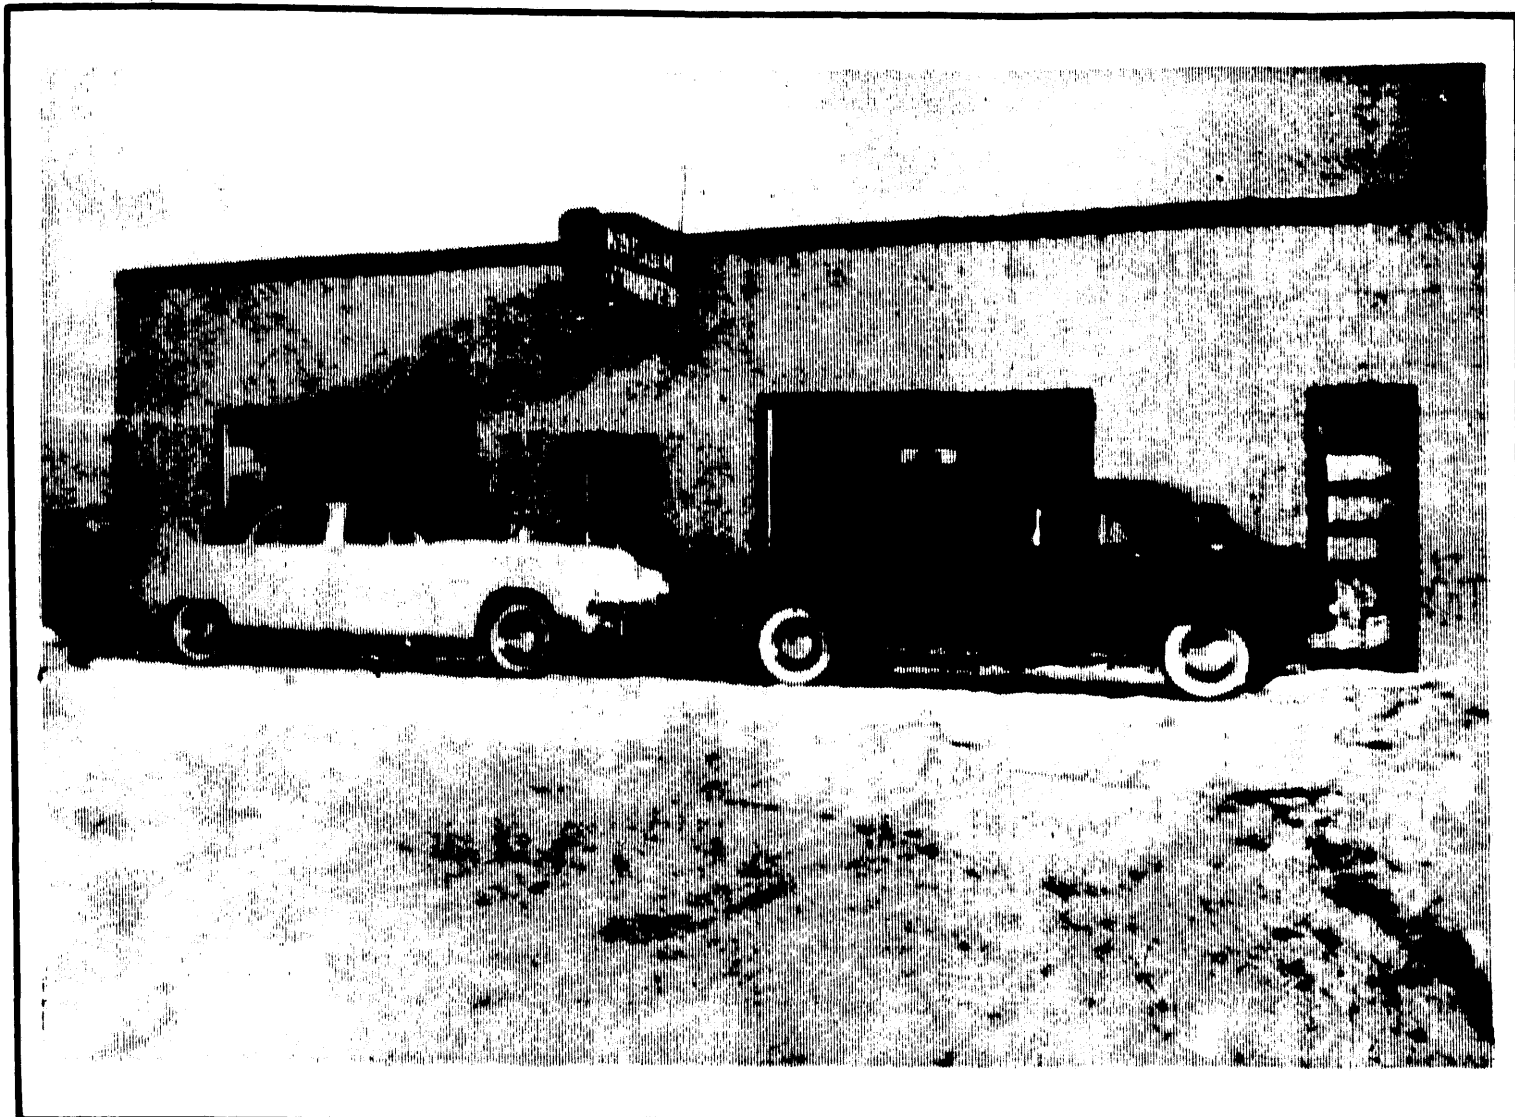

I said,
"Show me a filter cigarette that really delivers taste and I'll eat my hat!"

After Ray Oyler walked, leading off the third, Oriole pitcher Frank Bertina fielded Mickey Lolich's bunt and threw wildly on an attempted force. Oyler reached third.

Wert's bunt scored Oyler, and when Bertina again made a wild throw, Lolich also scored.

It's Approved But

Hart Opposed Firearms Curb

A firearms bill that would substitute governmental prohibition for the exercise of individual and parental judgment has been approved by the U. S. Senate Subcommittee to Investigate Juvenile Delinquency. It is S. 1592, the so-called Dodd firearms bill, the Wildlife Management Institute reports.

Although the subcommittee staff is not releasing details about changes made during the group's deliberations, enough information has emerged to show that the proposal goes further than sportsmen have indicated a willingness to accept.

Voting in opposition were Senator Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.).

As ordered reported, S. 1592 seeks to ban interstate mail order sales of pistols and revolvers to individuals. A sportsman wishing to order a rifle or shotgun through the mail would be required to send the dealer or manufacturer a notarized affidavit swearing that he is 18, has no criminal record, and that the sale is not contrary to local law. In addition, he would have to provide the name and address of the local police official. The dealer or manufacturer would have to forward a copy of the affidavit by registered mail to the police officer. The rifle or shotgun could be sent to the purchaser not sooner than seven days after notification of delivery of the affidavit to the police officer is returned to the manufacturer or dealer.

The proposal would flatly prohibit over-the-counter sales of handguns anywhere and at any time to persons less than 21 years of age. It similarly would prohibit the sale of a rifle or shotgun over the counter to anyone less than 18 years of age. Sportsmen, 21 and older, could buy handguns only in their state of residence.

It would appear that subcommittee supporters of S. 1592 believe that all individuals should be treated the same regardless of whether they live in the city or the country, in an urbanized or an agricultural state, or other factor. Many states require persons 16 years of age or older to have hunting licenses, but S. 1592 would not permit a young hunter, regardless of his maturity, training, parental consent, or other reason, to buy his own gun.

S. 1592, as ordered reported, would prohibit the sale to individuals of bazookas, hand grenades, and other of the so-called destructive devices. Sportsmen have supported this all along and, some even suggested during the public hear-

Parking Garage Building Collapse Probe Started

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Michigan Construction Safety Commission was to begin an investigation today into the collapse Thursday of a $2 million parking garage under construction near the University of Michigan hospital here.

Allan W. Harvey, commission director, said Ray Lepola, an inspector from Detroit, would conduct the inquiry.

A preliminary investigation by university officials and contractors on the project indicated Friday that "high level gusts of wind funneling down through the building" led to its collapse.

James F. Brinkerhoff, university director of plant extension, said the pillars in the structure had not been braced. He said it was "not normal practice" to use braces in such cases.

ings on S. 1592 that Congress has been derelict in not correcting this situation years ago. Sportsmen do object to inclusion of this subject in a proposal that pertains largely to sporting firearms and to the Federal Firearms Act. They believe instead that it should proceed as a separate amendment to the National Firearms Act to which it pertains.

One amendment would require testing of already adequately tested domestic firearms, thereby increasing their cost to sportsmen.

Griffin Proposes Executive Corps Aid Supervisors

FLINT (AP) — An "Executive Corps", similar to the Peace Corps and designed to supervise the U.S. economic aid program in South Viet Nam, has been proposed by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich.

Griffin, recently returned from a weeklong trip to Viet Nam as a member of a House subcommittee investigating the Commodity Import Program, said the program was not adequately supervised and audited. "Shocking enough, it has even resulted in the diversion of certain American supplies to the enemy," Griffin said. "It has reached the point where some Saigon businessmen actually have a vested interest in prolonging the war."

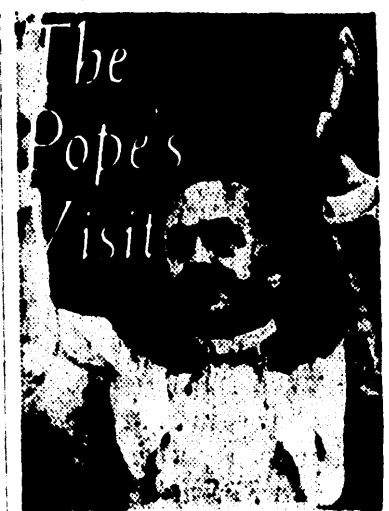

The proposed "executive Corps," Griffin said, "could be modeled on the Peace Corps and recruited from young men with executive training and from senior executives who wish to serve their country."

"Not only would this reform the administration of such programs, but the highly skilled personnel could also teach essential managerial skills to their native counterparts in newly developing nations," Griffin said.

A five-term House member, Griffin was sworn in Monday to fill the Senate seat vacated by the death of Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, D-Mich.

The game of polo originated in Iran.

What County Home Rule Is

By DICK BARNES
LANSING (AP) — While legislators haggle over the details of county home rule, some people — especially newcomers to Michigan — are trying to figure out what all the shouting is about.

Why have county home rule?

For efficiency. What is it? It's a means to permit each county to establish a government suited to its particular needs, just as city home rule permits cities to form their own style of government within certain bounds.

Counties have some government now. But many consider it unwieldy because boards of supervisors are large and often unrepresentative with the boards weighted in favor of rural areas. Correcting this imbalance is the subject of other pending legislation.

Some services, such as trash pickup, are provided individually by each township, city or village in a county. County home rule is said to be a means for handling services on a broader and more efficient basis.

What the legislators and governor are arguing about are such details as which county offices should be elective and which should be appointive; whether county officers should be nonpartisan or run under party labels; who should draw district lines; under what conditions should the county be able to take over services rendered by municipalities.

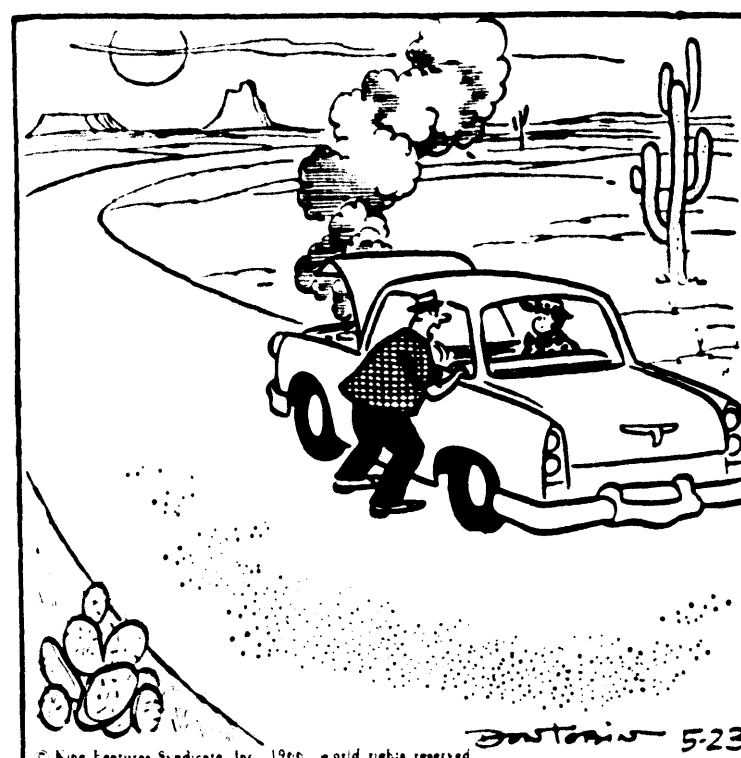

The House already has killed one bill this year related to stronger county government. It would have provided for a county office to assess property for taxes instead of the present system whereby each municipality has its own assessor.

Strong county government is no novel proposal. In California, for example, the county runs all services except in cities and there is no such political entity as the township.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"For Pete's sake, stop singing 'Bury me out on the lone prairie!'"

Bedside Art Cheers The Ill

CHICAGO (AP) — A patient looks dour in the middle of what is shaping up as a hard day at the hospital.

Then into the room comes a pink cart full of art pushed by a handsome, gray-haired woman in a pink smock who smiles and says, "How about a new picture?"

Soon, the patient, his ailment sometimes forgotten, is examining prints of paintings by Monet, Renoir, Cezanne and Winslow Homer.

Doctors at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital said in an interview the pictures definitely aid recuperation.

There was the description of one patient: "A woman who had been extremely ill felt the picture in her room was a great factor in her recovery. She said she would concentrate as hard as she could on her picture whenever she felt herself slipping into a troubled and confused state of mind."

Mrs. John Chappell is chairman of the women's board art committee. Once each week she and Mrs. John M. McDowell or another volunteer wheels the carts around the 856-bed hospital.

They carry more than 600 prints — to court the aesthetic whims from those of a 10-year-old tonsillectomy patient to a terminal cancer victim.

Police Step Up Memorial Day Patrol Activity

EAST LANSING (AP) — State Police will start a stepped-up four-day Memorial Day weekend holiday patrol at noon May 27.

Col. Fredrick Davids, State Police director, said maximum patrol coverage will be in effect from 3 p.m. until 9 p.m. daily, when traffic is expected to be the heaviest.

Special attention will be paid to the sections of highway with the worst accident experience.

Pass days for uniformed troopers will be cancelled from Friday through Monday over the holiday weekend. Detectives, when available, will be used on desk assignments to relieve uniformed men for patrol duty.

State Police will be assisted by 120 National Guardsmen. They will serve as second men on two-man patrols or work on point control.

There were 27 persons killed in 22 fatal accidents over the 78-hour Memorial Day holiday last year. The toll was 24 deaths in both 1963 and 1964.

Davids urged motorists to drive sensibly and safely over the holiday period.

Con Man Clumsy, Victim Has Cash

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Somewhere around here there's a very clumsy con man and two angry partners.

Police told it this way: Three men interested a Newark man in a card game recently first convincing him to withdraw $1,800 from his bank nearby. On the way to the game, it was suggested they postpone the game a day, mailing their combined stakes to the subject's home for safekeeping.

Later, the subject got worried that he may have been taken and called police. It was the old "letter game." The man with the envelope was to switch the real money for phony bills, sending that to the victim.

But someone had bungled the job. The envelope contained the original $1,800 plus another $224.

Ship Figureheads

The figureheads that adorned sailing ships in the 19th century had their origin in the ancient art of decorating ships' bows to lure friendly spirits aboard.
